BEST PRACTICE

By providing extra training and support to Employees for using Kiosk, we can help them to independently check their own payroll figures, check leave entitlement and keep track of other employment related information. This is not a replacement for personal contact with HR. It is just an easy way to get assistance. Kiosk can be in the form of a computer or a stand alone Kiosk Machine.

GREEN TECHNOLOGY IN FACTORIES

In a recent study it was highlighted that Switching to LED lights in factories not only saves energy, it boosts productivity and increases profits.

LEDs—or light-emitting diodes—create less heat than traditional lights, so they help keep factory floors cooler.

When workers are more comfortable at work productivity increases, according to the study of 25 garment factories in Bangalore, India, from 2010 to 2013 .

"Heat stress stops the body's capacity to exert, so workers are less able to complete production targets," said

Achyuta Adhvaryu, an assistant professor at the University of Michigan Ross School of Business Due to climate change, finding ways to keep factories cooler will become increasingly challenging for businesses in developing countries, which on average are hotter than developed nations. The garment factories in the study were not air-conditioned and had hundreds of people laboring on machines that ran constantly in buildings with multiple stories. Bangladesh, China, Indonesia, Vietnam and other major exporters in the $200billion apparel Industry have similar work conditions
